

Notes From The Rabbit Hole

eResearch Corporation is pleased to provide an article, courtesy of NFTRH.com, and written by Gary Tanashian, with a bio on the Author provided at the end of the article.

The article, starting on the next page, is entitled: “Hui Is Still Looking Tired”

Biiwii.com was created in mid-2000 solely as a way to help get the message out about deeply-rooted problems about too much debt and leverage within the financial system. The concerns were confirmed and the message proved justified 3 to 4 years later as the system began to purge these distortions, resulting in a climactic washout extending from October, 2008 to March, 2009.

Along the way, a geek-like interest in technical analysis, a long-time interest in human psychology, and various unique macro market ratio indicators were added to the mix, with the result being a financial market newsletter (and dynamic interim updates), Notes From The Rabbit Hole (NFTRH) that combines these attributes to provide a service that is engaged and successful in all market environments by employing risk management first, and opportunity for speculation second.

But It Is What It Is: You can access Biiwii at its website: www.biiwii.com.

eResearch was established in 2000 as Canada's first equity issuer-sponsored research organization. As a primary source for professional investment research, our Subscribers (subscription is free!!!) benefit by having written research on a variety of small- and mid-cap, under-covered companies. We also provide unsponsored research reports on middle and larger-sized companies, using a combination of fundamental and technical analysis. We complement our corporate research coverage with a diversified selection of informative, insightful, and thought-provoking research publications from a wide variety of investment professionals. We provide our professional investment research and analysis directly to our extensive subscriber network of discerning investors, and electronically through our website: www.eResearch.ca.

Hui Is Still Looking Tired

By Gary Tanashian (bio at the end of the article)

May 23, 2017

The still-bearish Gold Miners index (HUI) was due for a bounce at lateral support and that is what it got. Here is one of the charts by which we plotted the support level and bounce targets of the SMA 50, which was hit, and the SMA 200, which killed the last two bounces.

Now, the CoT situation has been improving for gold and silver and there are some quality leaders in the sector that are not bearish like HUI. But the sector as a whole, riff-raff and all, does not go into a bull phase until the April and February highs are taken out. Period. When either that happens, or if the sector wipes out amid improving fundamentals, we go bull. Simple.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Gary Tanashian is a financial market analyst, writer, and editor. He provides “Accurate financial market analysis and commentary focused on unbiased reality as opposed to preconceived assumptions.”

As a long-time participant in financial media (published at leading outlets like SeekingAlpha, Investing.com, and many more), Gary has learned how to communicate with people about often-complex material. He knows that it requires hard work, but he believes that there is no other way in order to provide the highest quality service to the public.

Gary is the owner of Biiwii.com (launched in 2004) and, later, NFTRH.com (launched in 2014).

Biiwii is a financial website that got it RIGHT in the run up to 2008, unlike many in the financial services industry.

He is the owner and publisher of the weekly premium financial market report Notes From The Rabbit Hole, which was launched in September, 2008.

Notes From The Rabbit Hole is a premium newsletter service (including detailed in-week updates) for people who care more about financial market realities than having their preconceived notions reinforced. <http://nftrh.com/nftrh-premium/>
