

Notes From The Rabbit Hole

eResearch Corporation is pleased to provide an article, courtesy of NFTRH.com, and written by Gary Tanashian, with a bio on the Author provided at the end of the article.

The article, starting on the next page, is entitled:
“Decision Made; Dust Taken Off Miners, But ...”

Biiwii.com was created in mid-2000 solely as a way to help get the message out about deeply-rooted problems about too much debt and leverage within the financial system. The concerns were confirmed and the message proved justified 3 to 4 years later as the system began to purge these distortions, resulting in a climactic washout extending from October, 2008 to March, 2009.

Along the way, a geek-like interest in technical analysis, a long-time interest in human psychology, and various unique macro market ratio indicators were added to the mix, with the result being a financial market newsletter (and dynamic interim updates), Notes From The Rabbit Hole (NFTRH) that combines these attributes to provide a service that is engaged and successful in all market environments by employing risk management first, and opportunity for speculation second.

Decision Made; Dust Taken Off Miners, But ...

By Gary Tanashian (bio at the end of the article)

September 26, 2017

I guess it came down to a 'who am I to argue with success?' kind of question.

There was yet another profitable round trip shorting the miners staring me in the face and, so, I took the DUST profit. All of it.

But I still think the next few weeks may be rocky so risk is going to be managed in the way of what I just did with Kirkland Lake; i.e. taking profits and limiting losses. Also, balancing of portfolios with the likes of the pro-USD and broader market positions.

Yesterday worked perfectly; dumb money bought gold stocks because the missile freak in North Korea was at it again and that served up a short entry.

But, today, with GDX nestled again to the 50-day moving average (see chart on the next page), it does not feel like a sensible place to be short anymore.

We will see; as I said, risk can be managed in other ways.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Gary Tanashian is a financial market analyst, writer, and editor. He provides “Accurate financial market analysis and commentary focused on unbiased reality as opposed to preconceived assumptions.”

As a long-time participant in financial media (published at leading outlets like SeekingAlpha, Investing.com, and many more), Gary has learned how to communicate with people about often-complex material. He knows that it requires hard work, but he believes that there is no other way in order to provide the highest quality service to the public.

Gary is the owner of Biiwii.com (launched in 2004) and, later, NFTRH.com (launched in 2014).

Biiwii is a financial website that got it RIGHT in the run up to 2008, unlike many in the financial services industry.

He is the owner and publisher of the weekly premium financial market report Notes From The Rabbit Hole, which was launched in September, 2008.

Notes From The Rabbit Hole is a premium newsletter service (including detailed in-week updates) for people who care more about financial market realities than having their preconceived notions reinforced. <http://nftrh.com/nftrh-premium/>
