The article, starting on the next page, is entitled:
“Gaps Filling; New Ones Forming”

Biiwii.com was created in mid-2000 solely as a way to help get the message out about deeply-rooted problems about too much debt and leverage within the financial system. The concerns were confirmed and the message proved justified 3 to 4 years later as the system began to purge these distortions, resulting in a climactic washout extending from October, 2008 to March, 2009.

Along the way, a geek-like interest in technical analysis, a long-time interest in human psychology, and various unique macro market ratio indicators were added to the mix, with the result being a financial market newsletter (and dynamic interim updates), Notes From The Rabbit Hole (NFTRH) that combines these attributes to provide a service that is engaged and successful in all market environments by employing risk management first, and opportunity for speculation second.

Gaps Filling; New Ones Forming

By Gary Tanashian (bio at the end of the article)

January 31, 2018

Some interesting 30 minute charts for your viewing pleasure.

The Dow is the thing that Trump pumps the most on Twitter. DIA is trying to do a solid effort for its bro in return, as it bounces and tries to fill the gap down.

Notes From The Rabbit Hole

SPY has a ways to go before filling the gap. Not that it has to fill, mind you. But there it is and that would be rubber meets road time with respect to this market failing and going bearish or instructing “party on, Garth”.

Notes From The Rabbit Hole

Small Caps have been all over the road, trying but failing to fill the big gap yesterday and easing today to try to fill the little one.

Notes From The Rabbit Hole

Big Tech is getting very close to a gap fill and will be instructive as to what it does from there. Tech tends to lead the S&P 500, after all.

Notes From The Rabbit Hole

Finally, the Semi sector, AKA the leader's (NDX/QQQ) leader. It filled the most recent gap and is creating a new one.

Indeed, everybody above is creating a new gap, perhaps to be addressed after the SotU joy wears off and the FOMC rolls over and punts.
