

TECHNICAL CHARTING OPINION

eResearch Corporation is pleased to feature a technical opinion by Chris Kimble of Kimble Charting Solutions.

Mr. Kimble states, on his website www.kimblechartingsolutions.com, that his goal for his investment research is to:

... help people to enlarge portfolios regardless of market direction by looking for patterns at extreme points of "exhaustion" with a high probability of reversing, called TBNM: tops, bottoms, no middles. The intent is to simplify the decision-making process.

Mr. Kimble has been in financial services for over 30 years.

His research is intended to simplify investment decisions and increase confidence with charts that are clear as to the pattern at hand and action to take. His strategy is to look for chart patterns at extreme exhaustion points that have a high probability of reversing. These extremes reflect excess fear and greed of global investors and, therefore, they can be capitalized upon.

By providing research showing markets at extremes of long term resistance or support, and including bullish/bearish sentiment readings when available, Mr. Kimble attempts to help investors simplify their decision-making, reduce risk, increase confidence, and improve results.

King Dollar Attempting To Break Support, Bullish For Metals!

The chart below looks at the US Dollar, reflecting that it has spent the majority of the past 14 years inside of a rising channel (1).

Over the past 3 years, the Dollar could be creating a series of lower highs and lower lows inside of falling channel (2). It hit the top of the channel a few weeks back, near the top of the new falling channel and some selling pressure has taken place.

The weakness in the Dollar has it attempting to break support of a bearish rising wedge at (3).

The Dollar's continued weakness would send a positive message to Commodities, especially Gold, Silver, and the miners! What it does at (3), will send an important message to the hard-hit commodities space.

Full disclosure-Metals members have been long Gold for a couple of months.
