

TECHNICAL CHARTING OPINION

eResearch Corporation is pleased to feature a technical opinion by Chris Kimble of Kimble Charting Solutions.

Mr. Kimble states, on his website www.kimblechartingsolutions.com, that his goal for his investment research is to:

... help people to enlarge portfolios regardless of market direction by looking for patterns at extreme points of "exhaustion" with a high probability of reversing, called TBNM: tops, bottoms, no middles. The intent is to simplify the decision-making process.

Mr. Kimble has been in financial services for over 30 years.

His research is intended to simplify investment decisions and increase confidence with charts that are clear as to the pattern at hand and action to take. His strategy is to look for chart patterns at extreme exhaustion points that have a high probability of reversing. These extremes reflect excess fear and greed of global investors and, therefore, they can be capitalized upon.

By providing research showing markets at extremes of long term resistance or support, and including bullish/bearish sentiment readings when available, Mr. Kimble attempts to help investors simplify their decision-making, reduce risk, increase confidence, and improve results.

Eight Break-Outs You Might Want To Be Aware Of!

While it seems easy to find articles suggesting that the “Sky Is Falling” or a recession is right around the corner, some assets are reflecting positive patterns and breakouts.

This past weekend in our “Coffee With Chris” report, these eight assets, shown in the chart below, were shared with our members. Each asset above is working on bullish breakouts above old resistance at each (1).

As the same time these assets were breaking out, two different Advance/Decline lines were experiencing similar patterns (upside breakouts).
