Canadian Stocks:

Every day, TheUpTrend.com records a list of those stocks, which have broken above, or below, their stock price channel lines. To access a chart, you can <Ctrl-Click> on any stock name to see the chart. See Chart Notes.

Today's list is provided on the following page.

TheUpTrend.com is a proprietary technical analysis system, devised by Stephen Whiteside, that uses charts and various technical tools to maximize trading and investing experiences.

#####

TheUpTrend.com provides intra-day, daily, weekly, and monthly technical analysis on global stocks, indexes, ETFs, and futures.

#####

Knowing when to buy, when to sell, and when to take profits is all part of a responsible and fundamental investment strategy. Execution of these parameters, for most investors, is rarely easy to accomplish. The task is infinitely easier with the use of TheUpTrend.com.

#####

By providing investors with a set of powerful Decision Support Tools, investors can dramatically increase returns and reduce risk. These tools help investors make better decisions faster, with more confidence, and less stress.

Each week day (usually), and before the market opens, Stephen Whiteside provides, through an audio-video presentation, a technical viewpoint on the stock market. This informative video is provided on the eResearch Corporation website and is available to all eResearch Subscribers. Stephen's 6-8 minute commentary covers the Canadian and the U.S. stock markets, and reviews the charts of the major country indexes, company stocks, bonds, currencies, and ETFs.

CHART NOTES:

1. Channel Breakers Weekly charts are based on weekly closing prices and, therefore, are appropriate for use by intermediate-term investors.
2. You can open a chart by <Ctrl-Click> on the Company Name in the above list.
3. On an opened chart, a BLUE dot is a bullish Early Warning signal.
4. On an opened chart, a RED dot is a bearish Early Warning signal.
5. The dot, Blue or Red, often appears when the stock is trading inside the stock price channel. It does NOT represent a Buy or a Sell signal if it is inside the channel.
6. A Buy signal occurs ONLY when the stock closes ABOVE the upper stock price channel line.
7. A Sell signal occurs ONLY when the stock closes BELOW the lower stock price channel line.
